Activities and Education--A Team

As our term draws near its end, we look in review on our college activities in the past year.

How much have we gained from education and how much have we gained from our extra-curricular activities?

College can be sincerely desired as an opportunity for social activities, for there are occasions to serve others and meet others.

The student activities are not just recreational. Many of the student activities stimulate us to added effort in our scholastic work, not because we join the exclusive club whose standards are high grades, but because we have an opportunity to volunteer our maturing ability for service.

Education is not an end in itself, but a means of increasing our ability to participate in the service of others.

So even in our college years, we find that education is necessary to supplement the ideas of experience.

Our approaches to problems and our new found means of solution allow us to expand our worth in the work of our activities.

The benefit of education is not immediate. It is not automatic.

Experience in student activities demonstrates that matters do not go by the rules of the book, for the problems that arise present complexities.

Thus we find that participation in student activities allows us to develop our inherent abilities, for we adopt our new gained knowledge to the problems that we encounter.

Education is necessary, not as an end in itself, nor as a mere part of our lives, but of increasing our abilities, and thus our worth to others.—Claude Crownover.

S.F. State Welcomes 150 Student Body Presidents

Sophomore Asks For Blood Donations

ROBIN DEMPSTER

A fellow student needs your help or he is faced with the unpleasant prospect of bleeding to death. Jim Garner, high freshman at S.F. State, is a victim of hemophilia, the disease which prevents proper clotting of the blood. Jim needs a pint of blood every day of his life. You can help.

Next Monday and Tuesday, a bloodmobile will come to State. The blood collected will be set aside for Jim. The goal is only 500 pints, a very small amount when a school has 6,000 students. The bloodmobile is operated by the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank, an efficient and life-saving Branch of the American Red Cross.

Let's meet Jim, at least on paper. He is a former resident of Pittsburg, California. He attended Contra Costa J.C. last year. Jim is a radio amateur and a member of the S.F. Radio Club. He is one of the 30 victims of the disease in San Francisco.

In the past the members of the S.F. Radio Club and the students of Contra Costa have donated blood for Jim. His friends and relations have all given him helping pints. However, next week his "credit" of blood at the Irwin Blood Bank will be exhausted.

Now that he has exhausted his credit, Jim will have to pay for the blood he so vitally needs. The price of blood is not small and it would place an impossible strain on Jim's funds.

If the students at State donate the 500 pints, Jim will not have to face this problem again for over a year. Herb Caen in a recent column called the blood credit a "life-or-death bank account."

The blood drive is being sponsored by the Inter-Fraternity-Sorority Council. The members of the IFSC will be distributing minor blood release slips which students under 21 need before they can donate to the worthy cause.

Jim has found an additional value in going to the Blood Bank so often. He is planning to get married next fall to one of the nurses there. So, if the students at State will roll up their sleeves and really give of themselves, Jim can look forward to a better life.

Soph Prexy Revote Set

The Board of Directors announced last week that a special election will be held next Thursday and Friday. This decision was made after the last election was contested on the grounds that some sophomores were not able to get ballots as the supply had run out.

Bonne Baltsen is now President of the S.F. State Student YMCA, Rep. at Large (under 32 units), a member of the Frosh Camp committee, a member of On Campus Orientation committee, a member of the Activities committee, and a former member of the Dance committee.

Don Crawford is now a member of the Freshman Class Council, Frosh Pep Club, a letterman in water polo. He is an entertainer in U.S.O. shows and has entertained at State.

SENIOR CLASS BALL HIGHLIGHTS YEAR

The Seniors invite all students to dance in the early American atmosphere of the Colonial Room at the Sir Francis Drake hotel. This spacious room will provide the setting for the Senior Ball on Saturday, May 15, from 9 p.m.-1 a.m.

The music for this highlight of the Senior Class activities for the spring semester will be provided by the danceable rhythm of Herb Faulkner's orchestra. This outfit has recently enjoyed a successful engagement at the Treasure Island Officer's Club.

The attire will be semi-formal with either suits or dinner jackets for the men and formals for the women. Bids will be $2.75 per couple with no stag tickets being sold.

Dan Schell, president of the outgoing Senior Class, expects 150 couples and urges the attendance of all so this event will be a great success.

'Ports of Call' Splashes Onto S.F. State Scene

A "trip around the world by water" aboard the U.S.S. San Francisco State will be the pleasure of those who attend "Ports of Call," the first Annual aquacade to be presented at S. F. State College.

Sponsored by the Physical Education Department under the direction of Miss Mozelle Gooch, the aquatic event will be presented on Friday, May 21, at 8:30 p.m. in the college swimming pool.

The good ship S.S. San Francisco State will visit some 12 ports in its global journey, stopping long enough to view the colorful sights of each. Oriental, African and Turkish dancers will perform for ship-board visitors as Master of Ceremonies Ray Truman guides the vessel through the two act extravaganza.

According to Miss Gooch the show will feature a colorfully costumed cast of 60 whose performances will include Comic Swimming Synchronized Swimming and Straight Swimming.

Only 500 tickets are available in the Student Body Office, Hut T-1 for a 50 cent general admission charge.

Editor:

We found it in our power to present something new in musical affairs at State. Through the wonderful handling of Virgil Gonzalves and his committee members the Music Federation was able to present, for the first time, in State history, a four hour jazz concert that started at 12 noon on April 28.

This was the first time our new auditorium was used for anything other than classical music performances. On all of our concerts we have been having an attendance of about 250 people, but in this case we managed to draw an attendance of 760 people by the end of the third hour, at which time we stopped counting because we were getting a lot of returnees.

This concert was very lightly publicized. The audience gathered mostly by word of mouth, which in this case, turned out to be good advertising. Most of the music classes were cancelled as the instructors felt that there would be a good lesson to be learned at the concert.

During the course of the afternoon, all of the faculty found it interesting to spend as much of their time as they could at the auditorium, and they all seemed to enjoy the concert.

There were numbers played by Virgil's 18 piece band, Forrest Elledge Quartette, Rudy Slavini's Octette, Virgil Gonsalves', Sextette, Mike Downs' Quintette, Gene Vittori's Quartette, Shelley Robbins' Quartette, Jack Pereirra's Quintette, Don Carroll's Septette, and the vocal quintette known as the Accidentals.

Each band had about 20 minutes on stage to perform and as soon as they were through they left the stage and the next group came on. There were three outstanding groups, judging from the audience applause.

The first one was the big band, featuring five trumpets, five saxes, four trombones, and four rhythm. The most talked about outfit was Jack Pereirra's quintette. The outfit was made up of harp, vibes, drums bass and clarinet. The third group was Pete Dovido's quartette, containing tenor, drums, piano and bass.

This program was such a success that we are getting together to try to put on another one in the near future. We shall send out notices for the next one which will be given at night.

Editor:

In your editorial of April 9th you complimented the present student body leaders for the persistence they have shown in solving problems, and particularly their hard work and long hours in attempting to answer criticisms of the Food Service. I should like, in agreement with you, to add my compliments to this group of students.

I have been a member of both the Board of Directors and the Board of Control for three years. In that time students tackled many problems, but the way in which these leaders have come to grips with the difficulties involved in this specific problem is indeed admirable. A great deal of thoughtful consideration has been given to student opinion.

Many long sessions have been held in an effort to get a complete background and arrive at an understanding of the facets of the problem. These students have been diligent, intelligent, and objective as they have worked together for a fair and wise solution of the issue.

In arriving at the decision to accept President Leonard's proposal they have thought of the entire college community and at the same time they have tenaciously sought to protect the interests and welfare of students.

Bert Phillips, and all of his fellow student board members, have my deep respect for their abilities, and my high esteem for those personal qualities which make them such a fine group of student leaders. Students, faculty, and administrators should all be proud of these young people.

Sincerely,
Dorothy E. Wells

"Education will definitely raise the low living standards of the natives in Morocco," says Rabah Belaid, an Arab student from North Africa, now studying at State.

Speaking of the high percentage of uneducated natives, Rabah feels that his people are not given opportunities to attend schools.

The few schools that exist in the villages give preference to French children. Morocco, this French controlled state in North Africa, has been a scene of general unrest for several years.

The school facilities of North African states are very limited, and to date hardly anything has been done to improve conditions. "The French," says Mr. Belaid, "fear that education will expose the natives to the outside world and they may demand freedom."

Today, Moroccans who greatly outnumber their French masters, are struggling towards self-government. "The only way my people will achieve their independence is through education," says Rebah, "educate them and they will be fit to govern themselves."

It is surprising to see a totalitarian colonial policy within a leading democratic nation like France. Morocco became a French protectorate in 1912 and ever since then has remained as such. It is evident that France has not fulfilled her promise in which she agreed to help Morocco reform its administration. Instead, France has always discouraged education in order to keep the natives in the dark.

S.F. State Newman Club Cops National Awards at Convention

The Newman Club of S. F. State College made a clean sweep of all awards at the National Newman Club Convention held in Sacramento April 23-25.

S.F. State, for the first time, won the coveted award for having the most active Newman Club in the Province, which includes Nevada, California and Hawaii. This award is based on the club's growth, achievement, organization and activity.

Jack Murphy, club president and Joan Stenson. spiritual chairman, both received membership in the John Henry Newman Honorary Society. Jack Murphy was also elected Province Chairman. His job will involve traveling to different colleges to observe proceedings of Newman Club functions, and to advise and direct Province activities on different college campuses.

The Newman Club basketball team also won a trophy for being the best team in the Province. They beat their final opposers, Chico, by a 34-32 score. Team members are Ed Luetta, Terry Ross, Jack Morgan, Frank Verducci, Jack Murphy and Noel Mertens. S.F. State is now waiting to gain the three foot trophy from the University of California Newman Club.—By Joyce McLaren.

Gator Trackmen Travel To Davis

A tight race for the Far Western Conference Track Championship should take place tomorrow, when the six league teams meet at Davis in the annual Conference Track Meet.

San Francisco State, along with Cal Aggies and Chico State, should be gunning for the top position, according to Coach Ray Kaufman. The locals stand a very good chance, as they have already beaten both other contenders in dual and triangular meets.

The California Aggies feature a number of excellent sprinters, distance runners, and hurdlers. Their team is fairly weak in the field events, however, except for the broad jump in which they possess some top flight competitors.

The Aggies are sparked by Dave Threlkeld, a low freshman, who according to Coach Kaufman may someday be, "one of the country's greatest athletes." The 6 ft. 3 in., 190 pounder runs the 100 yard dash in 9.7, and the 220 in 21.0.

Chico State, on the other hand, bases its hopes on a well-rounded team. The Wildcats are led by their all-around athlete, George Maderos, who broad jumps, high jumps, hurdles, throws the discus and javelin and runs in the relay, and hurdler Norm McKenzie.

The Red and White has two 23 foot broad jumpers and another who consistently jumps 22 feet. They are strong in the high jump too, with a pair of jumpers who have turned in 6 ft. 4 in. performances, and another who has jumped 6 ft. 2 in.

State hopes to win the javelin with Herb Franklin backed up by Dick Ellis, and Bob Moniz, and to sweep the shot put competition 1-2-3 with John Bologna, Bob Ranta, and Bob Beedle.

Oreese Elmore is expected to place in both the 100 and 200 yard dashes. Levi Mason, Jack Landers, and Fred Berensmier are all contenders in the low and high hurdles.

State's potential in the 440 are Bill Campbell and Milt Kelly. Willie Ellison will represent S.F. in the 880. Miler Tom Leonard and 2 milers Gary Quick and Warren Fairbanks will run the distance events. For the discus it will be George Von Arx and Larry Conover.

Walt Bremond will go for the broad jump, and Johnny Mathis, who broke the school record last week, along with Al Desin, will give the Staters a double punch in the high jump. Ben Gurule, Bob Hulsebus, and Pervis Atkins will pole vault.

San Francisco State will be trying for its third conference championship in a row. Although the San Franciscans did not belong to the F.W.C. for a time, the Golden Tide had swept the last two meets in which it took part.

Nevada Tops SFS Baseballers, 4-3

Amidst the gloom of the dull, dark, afternoon of Saturday, April 24, State's varsity baseballer's bowed to the Nevada Wolfpack. 4-3, in Reno.

Leading throughout the game, the Gators blew up in the final inning, allowing the Nevadans to score their tying and winning runs. Once again, errors in the infield proved to be the local's downfall.

Clint Lee, the Gators' fireballing lefthander, started on the hill for Coach Dick Boyle, but was relieved in the sixth inning by John Kalberer who finished the game.

The game was nearly ended in that eventful sixth inning when drops of rain began to fill the air. The game was temporarily halted, but resumed moments later when the rain stopped. San Francisco was leading 3-2, at that time.

Ron Rosenberg one of the most consistent Gator hitters, cracked a resounding 400-foot homerun mid-day in the game, but his blow kept the Staters in contention only temporarily. Tony Cannizzo, leading Gator sticker, hit a double, while improving Stan Korich contributed a triple.

A scheduled second game was called at the end of two innings with State in the lead, 3-2. Joel Heckman was the starting pitcher. This game, of course, does not go down in the record books as a State victory, since it didn't go the required five innings, which constitute a complete game.

This game will not be played off unless either team is in contention for the FWC title.

CHANNING CLUB MEET

"What's at Stake in the State Elections" will be the topic of discussion at Channing Club Thursday, 8 p.m. Two young women representing the Young Democrats and the Young Republicans will debate the candidates and their programs.

Six-Nine Center Is Cage Prospect

Baseketball Coach Dan Farmer is already busy looking for basketball prospects for next season. Farmer has contacted many outstanding high school and junior college basketball players.

Thus far 14 well-known names have turned up. Among them is Jack Allain, a six foot nine inch, 225 pound transfer from San Mateo JC. Allain, 22, is a center, and also player quarterback for the San Mateo football team.

Other top names are Don Allen, also a baseball and football player, from Corning Union High School. Monte Moniz, Livermore High's leading scorer with 360 points in 21 games; George Geister, All Conference for Marin J.C.; Bob Grissom, All League at Marin J.C. this year; Bob Fernandez, of Butte City; Bill Peave of Walnut Creek; Bob Warren, also of Walnut Creek; John Fitzgerald, a Long Island, New York boy; Luy Arias, of Dinuba Union High school; Erwin Bonner, of Fort Huachuca, Arizona; Doug Marshall, of Shandon, California; Bill Peterson, a top notch prospect and Student Body President of Shandon, California; and Irv Gisler of San Francisco, who played in the recreation league.

State is Class C Champ in Meet

San Francisco State took the Class C championship at the San Jose State All-Comers' Track Meet on May 8. The locals also garnered a second place in the Class B competition and a sixth in the Class A.

In the Class C section, the Gators racked up 31 points to second placed Fort Ord and the Santa Clara Youth Center each with 8. San Francisco swept the 220 yard low hurdles, as Fred Berensmier won the event in 25.9 followed by Walsh and Cathey. The 120 high hurdles were won by State's Jack Landers in 16.1, followed by Berensmier. Others who placed in Class C were: Van Arx, Borastend, Whitworth, Owens, Duffy, and Mason.

With 34 points compared to 45 for San Jose State, the Purple and Gold scored a second place in the Class B group

Golfers Journey To FWC Championship Matches

By BOB LEE

The best golf team in the history of San Francisco State will take an 11 win, 1 loss and 1 tie record into the Far Western Conference championships taking place today and tomorrow.

This meet, for the championship of the six-team Far Western Conference, will take place at the Haggin Oaks course in Sacramento, and will consist of five-man teams from each school, each man shooting 36 holes during the two-days, the winner being determined by the lowest total team score.

The schools that will compete are Humboldt State, the University of Nevada, Sacramento State, the Cal Aggies and San Francisco State.

The Gators, who placed second in the Northern California Inter-collegiate championships, are expected to have the role of the favorite in the meet. And Coach Aldo de Ghetaldi shed some light on this when he said, "I won't say that we'll win—but, we have a good chance to set a new conference record."

This year State compiled its outstanding 11-1-1 record against some of the strongest teams in the state, beating California, U. S.F. and St. Marys, and losing and tying only to perennially strong San Jose State.

The tentative Gator team for the championships, as named by de Ghetaldi, will be Win Howe, Bob Moniz, Monte Nevis, Dick Kucich and George Starn.

The team this year included a bevy of freshmen and sophomore sharpies, and gives promise, eligibility and Uncle Sam permitting, of being even stronger next year.

Freshman Win Howe was the most consistent linksmen this year, coming along with a rush at the end of the season after a slow start. Howe was medalist in five of the Gator's meets and won nine matches, usually playing against the opponent's number one man.

Monte Nevis, who scored the most spectacular rounds, won eight matches, was medalist four times and fired the est score of the season by a State golfer, a sparkling three-under-par 69.

Bob Moniz, a former F.W.C. medalist, who returned after two years in the service, was medalist twice and won eight matches.

Dick Kucich, not a spectacular shooter, played steady, dependable golf, and wound up with 11 match wins, the individual high on the Gator team.

George Stern, a freshman with the least experience on the team, showed flashes of high potential while winning 10 of his matches this year. Coach de Ghetaldi expects an excellent showing from Starn next year.

The number five and six men on the team, Ken Blair and Martin Kilgariff, shot consistent golf all year. Blair won six matches and took medalist's honors once. Kilgariff won three matches.

The only two seniors on the team were Bill Grant and George Schaudra. Grant has won 16 out of 17 matches over a two-year period and Schaudra this year won his fourth block letter in golf.

Tennismen Finish Against Aggies

State's varsity netters officially end their season at Davis today and tomorrow, when they make their bid for the Far Western Conference singles and doubles titles. For the first time in State's last four performances in the Conference meet, the Gators are not cinches to sweep the titles.

Boasting a 5 won-2 lost record, the Gators stand a good chance of copping the doubles championship, but will have a great deal of opposition for the singles crown. Sacramento State's ace, "Mr. Willie," is favored to win the singles.

State's number 1 and 2 men, Stan Altschuler and Sam Lipman will combine to give the Gators a strong doubles entry. Because one man cannot compete in both singles and doubles, State's number 3 and 4 men, Eric Spiekerman and Bob Elias, are vying for the privilege of representing S.F. State in the singles competition.

The Cal Aggie's campus, besides hosting the tennis meet tomorrow, also is the site of tomorrow's Far Western Conference Track Meet, and the Far Western Conference Coaches' Meeting to draw up next season's basketball schedule.

Hit-Happy Gators Waltz to 19-8 Win

Hit happy Gator baseballers breezed to a 19-8 win over Moffett Field on May 5, scoring in every inning but the last one, at the losers field.

State, starved for hits practically all season, knocked out 20 bingles after not even taking time out for pre-game batting practice. They made up for it in the game.

The Gators scored three runs in the first inning, one in the second, four in the third, one more in the fourth, a brace in the fifth three more in the sixth, another three in the seventh, and finally ended it with a last two in the eighth inning.

Giant Joel Heckmann, the Crockett Amazon, started for the Gators and looked impressive despite single run scoring feats by Moffett in the first and third innings.

Lefty Clint Lee took over for Heckmann, who was being saved for another game, in the fifth inning and showed good stuff but was wild, allowing four markers to cross the dish in the seventh inning and two in the eighth.

Moffett collected only six hits in the whole game, as four Gator errors didn't help the situation.

State's Tony Cannizzo, leading hitter on the club, hit a home run and three solid smashes straight into the left fielders glove, as he continued to impress at the plate. Overdue Russ Rounavaara finally got hot and collected three solid hits in four trips up.

Golfers End 'Best Year'

State's galloping golfers wound up their best season in the history of the school with a solid 14-7 triumph over neighboring U.S.F. at Sharp Park last week.

The Gators won 11, lost one and tied one match this season

QUOTABLE QUOTES . . .

Woe for the life of a baseball coach. Dick Boyle came up with some very good quotes last week, none of them too novel, but certainly telling a true story.

Looking back on three straight losses by the score of 4-3, Coach Boyle had this to say, "Our pitching has been good, but you can't have mediocre hitting and errors in the infield and expect to win consistently." Of course there was more to be said, but we feel that this statement summed up the team's trouble in a nut-shell.

As an aftermath Boyle added, "All Far Western Conference teams are pretty evenly matched,, but right now, Chico State and Sacramento State have the best chance to take the crown."

Because of something like eight rained out games this year, another factor that has definitely hurt the team is in terms of practice and experience.

LIVESTOCK SHOW . . .

Speaking of the baseball team's trip to Nevada, the boys not only indulged in a game, but at the same time were treated to a livestock show.

Nevada's baseball park probably has the only authentic "bull pen" in the country. Why? Because the right field "Bull pen" actually houses a bull. Because very few right fielders have toreador experience, any ball hit into the pen is an automatic homerun.

There's a rumor going around the Nevada campus that the higher echelon has been trying for years to import an authentic bull fighter from Mexico to cope with this problem, since balls are expensive these days. But so far they have had no luck. They have yet to find a bull fighter who can hit his hat. Personally, we think it's a lot of bull.

Ron Rosenberg, who hit a tremendous homer over the left field wall midway through the Nevada game, missed a turkey dinner when his ball just did clear a turkey perched on the fence. Although the ball was hit to left center, it came darn close to being a fowl ball. Oh well.

The Nevada trip, incidentally, gave several of the boys their first opportunity to take a gander at snow. They also saw Kay Starr at the Riverside, besides coming out okay on the slot machines.

NEW BASEBALL FIELD . . .

Our new baseball field's been accepted. It is a full legal sized field with the proper drainage.

The left field fence is 380 feet from home plate,, center field, 480 feet, and right field, 350 feet.

Later on new shower rooms will be built. For the present time the team will continue to use the football field house.
